

Ruth Anne -

Not being married I can't give very good advice, can I? Can't even think of a recipe. Guess I'll just write a short letter since I owe you one, any way. Don't forget to write every once or twice in a while, after you're an "old married lady."

Keep your wonderful sense of humor, and your married life should be all "rosy."

Oh, and thanks a lot for all the teaching "aids" you brought over. I can use a lot of it. Looks like you're quitting the teaching profession! That means losing a good teacher, but Kenneth will be gaining a wonderful wife.
